

1.3.1 addressing cross-cutting issues such as Environmental sustainability, Gender equality, Human Values, and Professional Ethics, through mandatory additional requirements (MAR) as per the University curriculum.

The cross-cutting issues such as Environmental & sustainability, Gender equality, Human Values, and Professional Ethics, were addressed by the students as per the university curriculum through Mandatory Additional Requirements (MAR). The activity was performed as follows-

1. Environmental & sustainability:
Environmental sustainability is the ability to maintain an ecological balance in our planet's natural environment and conserve natural resources to support the well-being of current and future generations. In BCRCP, the students have participated in different programs regarding Environmental sustainability, such as Tree plantation, workshop for ecological balance, environmental awareness etc.
2. Gender Equality:
Gender equality means that the rights, responsibilities, and opportunities of individuals will not depend on whether they are male or female, handicapped or able-bodied, young or elderly, white or black, or from rural or urban settings. Women are entitled to live in dignity, safety, and security. In BCRCP the students have participated in different programs regarding gender equality, such as Women's Day and participation of students irrespective of gender in various workshops, training programs, industrial training etc.
3. Human value:
Basic human values refer to those values at the core of being human. The values considered basic inherent values in humans include truth, honesty, loyalty, love, peace, etc. because they bring out the fundamental goodness of human beings and society. In BCRCP the students have participated in different programs regarding Human Values, such as donating to a charitable trust, participation in relief camps, charity fundraising etc.
4. Professional ethics:
Professional ethics are principles that govern the behavior of a person or group in a business environment. Like values, professional ethics provide rules on how a person should act towards other people and institutions in such an environment. In BCRCP the students have participated in different programs regarding professional ethics, such as participating in a blood donation camp
